

Press release
TPN certification obtained by Hiventy Group headquarters in Boulogne

Paris January 25, 2021

The new Hiventy group headquarters in Boulogne-Billancourt have been awarded TPN certification. The certification concerns the security of the site's installations and production procedures.

Resulting from the merger between the MPA (Motion Picture Association) and CDSA (Content Delivery and Security Association) certifications, the Trusted Partner Network (TPN) is a new global initiative for the protection of cinematographic and audiovisual content.

The objective of the TPN is to help audiovisual companies to anticipate security breaches and the risks of audiovisual content leaking before its release. It aims to raise awareness among companies and their employees of issues related to content security.

The certification of the Boulogne site was obtained following an annual assessment and an in-depth audit of its technical and IT installations, production procedures and access to stored media, as well as the awareness of its employees.

Thierry Schindel , CEO of the Hiventy group, is delighted with this news :

"The security of the audiovisual content entrusted to us is an absolute priority for our group. This certification confirms the fundamental importance of security in audiovisual technical services for the sector in general and for our group. The obtaining of TPN certification reflects Hiventy's efforts to meet the highest standards of security. "
