

Press Release

Paris 6th of September 2019

Hiventy is taking over the site located at 221 bis boulevard Jean Jaurès in Boulogne-Billancourt.

Hiventy chose this location, which is home to a large number of companies in the audiovisual sector, to install its headquarters and get closer to its customers.

This new location will bring together in one place image and sound post-production, dubbing and subtitling, digital restoration, packaging and delivery (cinema, DVD and Blu-Ray, digital platforms, TV, etc.)

The photochemical activity remains at the Joinville Le Lab, the historical site.

The Bastille site, which specializes in the postproduction of fiction, series, documentaries and animation, as well as the Grande-Armée Avenue site, focused on post-production of streams, remain unchanged.

As of October 2019, the activities dedicated to sound (post-production and dubbing) will be progressively transferred to this new site. The complete development will be finalized in September 2020, without any interruption of activity.

The new site will offer the following infrastructures:

- 2 cinema mixing auditoriums
- 2 TV mixing auditoriums
- 2 sound studios
- 3 recording studios
- 2 cinema and TV calibration rooms
- 1 digital projection room and 35mm of 80 seats

"This historic image and sound post-production site, well known to our customers under the name" Les Audis de Boulogne "is perfectly adapted to our activities. This grouping will facilitate collaboration and synergy between the teams in order to provide our clients with transverse expertise. These new premises will allow us to increase our post-production capacities dedicated to cinematographic and television works, "says Thierry Schindel , Group General Manager.
